

DISCLAIMER AND LIMITATION OF LIABILITY FOR DRILLING THROUGH CONCRETE SLABS

In certain situations it may be necessary to drill through concrete slabs in order to get insecticide or termiticide materials to areas where insects or termites reside or can gain access through to enter a structure. In most cases Long Pest Control Inc. does not have blueprints or guaranteed locations of under slab utilities. In addition there are no practical means of determining where utilities may exist. We do however follow general standard practices of where most utilities are installed and do use "drill-stops" as a precautionary measure in the case that a metal object beneath the slab is encountered. This will not help in the case of plastics, thin metals such as copper or aluminum or heating elements that are installed within the slab.

Therefore, in order for Long Pest Control Inc to proceed with drilling through the concrete slab and performing the treatment, this disclaimer and release of responsibility must be signed indicating that parties are aware of the slight possibility that damages may be encountered while drilling through the concrete. If there are any questions regarding the procedure or of this limitation of liability please contact Long Pest Control Inc. prior to signing the release.

By signing and dating below, all parties are under full understanding that treatment is going to be performed and that the minimal risk of the possibly damage to utilities including but not limited to plumbing, electrical, data and heating lines and do accept full responsibility for repair to those lines should be encountered. Furthermore releasing Long Pest Control Inc. of any and all costs associated with any repair measures. With the signature of the undersigned I am authorizing Long Pest Control Inc. to commence treatment.
